VOL. XIX.] THURSDAY MORNING, AUGUST 13, 1818. [No. 5304.

For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

French Creek Boarding School.

The following is published for the information of Parents:

HAVING long believed that a School on a plan different from most others in many respects, would be beneficial to society, and apprehending that with all its cares, and the responsibility inseparable from such a concern, I could more cheerfully devote my time to the education of children than to any other business, I have concluded to establish a BOARDING SCHOOL for GIRLS.—With this view I have purchased the FRENCH CREEK FARM, four miles east of the yellow springs, on the Norristown and Philadelphia road, situated in Pikeland and Vincent townships, Chester county, twenty-seven miles from Philadelphia, combining many conveniencies for the support of such an institution; and having let the farm, etc. in a way calculated to supply the family with provisions, I propose to devote my attention, with the aid of suitable assistants, to the education of the children who may be placed under my care.

In selecting the pupils, it is not proposed to be governed entirely by their ages, nor to require that they shall all be members of the religious society of Friends; but as the school rules will be very few in number and very simple, it is my wish that none may be sent contrary to their own inclination, nor any one who would not be likely to be good examples to the other scholars, and treat them with kindness and affection.

The price for board and tuition will be two hundred Dollars per annum, one quarter always to be paid in advance—no restrictions respecting the kind of clothing are intended, nor respecting the frequency of the changes that parents may require; the washing will be charged at the ordinary price per dozen—children may be admitted for one quarter only, and such as are entered for a longer period, may nevertheless be removed at the expiration of any quarter.—The communication with Philadelphia will be frequent and easy by stage, and a house of entertainment kept by the farmer for the accommodation of persons having business at the school.

Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geography and the use of Maps and globes, will be taught, together with such other branches as the progress of the children and experience may render expedient. The school to open the first of the 5th month next. For further information apply to Edward Stabler, Alexandria, or to

ETERNITY.—A FRAGMENT.

The shadowy reign of time had pass'd away,
Systems had fled—and suns illum'd no more—
The starry gems were lost in radiant day;
The last shrill trump had wak'd the distant shore,
Its clang had ceas'd—and silence was in Heaven!
I saw the marshall'd cordon of the sky,
In glittering ranks bestud the trackless plain—
The tombs' pale monarch bound in chains stood by—
The prince of darkness—and his powers were nigh—
While ransom'd myriads, swell'd the countless train!
* * * * * * * * * * * * * *
I saw the scroll— * * * * * * * *
Endless duration, never can unfold!
Dread UNCREATE!—The life of DEITY was there!
Its awful signet shall remain untold—
No strains in Heaven may tell—no curse in Hell shall dare
The dreadful years of dark ETERNITY—declare!

ANECDOTE OF THE TEMPLE CLOCK.

Some years ago a new clock was made, to be placed in the Temple Hall—the clock maker was desired to wait on the benchers of the temple, who would think on a suitable motto to be placed on the clock. He applied several times without getting the desired information, as they had not determined on the inscription. Continuing to importune them, he at last came when the old benchers had just sat down to dinner. The workman again requested to be informed of the motto: one of the benchers, who thought the application ill-timed, hastily replied, "go about your business." The mechanic taking this for an answer to the question, went home and inscribed it at the bottom of the clock, and placed it in the Temple—but to the great surprise of the benchers, who, considering the circumstance, agreed that accident had produced a better motto than any they could think of: hence, ever since, the motto has continued to remind the lawyers, to "Go about their business." [London paper.

WATERLOO.

A gentleman of the town of Newburyport, lately returned from Europe, took an opportunity last spring, of visiting the spot where the famous battle of Waterloo was fought in June 1815, which terminated the great European conflict, and was succeeded by the final extinguishment of Bonaparte's military career. The person who conducted him to the spot, was the same who attended Buonaparte and his staff, as topographical guide on the memorable 11th June. He informed that on the battle field, (an extensive plain) was raised the last year, an uncommonly luxuriant crop of wheat: and well it might, for it was fertilized by the blood of 80,000 soldiers, who fell in the sanguinary battle. The gentleman picked up an Eagle, such as are worn by the French infantry, and two musket balls, which are now in his possession. The surface of the ground over the pit, in which were thrown many thousands of the slain, both men and beasts, in one undistinguished mass, is sunk considerably lower than the surrounding earth, and distinctly marks the extent of the vast cemetery.

LOO-CHOO ISLANDS.

[No. 2.]

O! wonder!
How many goodly creatures are there here!
How beauteous mankind is! O brave new world,
That have such people in't!
SHAKSPEARE.

Were the civilized world to open their accounts, in way of debtor and creditor, with each particular nation, from the first trace of civilization in history up to the present time, on the score of the various benefits which each has contributed to the great general amount of the comforts and accommodation of society—whether of ornament or of substantial value—whether of mental or physical good—or whether speculative or practical, it can scarcely be doubted that the balance would be decidedly in favor of Great Britain. The works of her philosophers are the main guides of the world, in the walks of science; and the productions of her artists and manufacturers furnish a large share of the commerce of all nations. From her example and instruction, the modern world has derived those intrepid and generous principles of freedom which, improved upon by America, are rapidly spreading over the civilized nations of the earth, and will, it may reasonably be hoped, ere many years be past, illuminate, not the minds only, but the bosoms too, of all the more intelligent sections of the human race; while her opulence, humanity and enterprise have from time to time brought to light, from the obscurity of barbarism, nations of people, before not imagined to exist, and transferred them from the condition of savages to the exaltation of civilized, and in some cases, of refined social life. To these she has lately added the discovery of Loo-Choo islands, though her claims on that score cannot be rated so very high in all these respects we have enumerated; for, though (to borrow the language of the Edinburgh Reviewer) the discovery of those islands ought to make Britons "proud of their country," and to put every man "in good humor with his species," the redemption of the people who inhabit them from barbarism, is not to be reckoned among the triumphs furnished by this event, since the inhabitants of these new discovered regions never were found as others were, labouring under the disadvantages of savage life.—Though altogether unknown and undreamt of by any of the people of Europe or America—even by the most active and enterprising maritime nations of the earth—they possess great skill in useful and ornamental arts and manufactures; and if the value of their laws and moral institutions may be estimated by their happy effects upon their own lives, customs, dispositions and conduct, they must have some code of their own, of great excellence, under the influence of which their moral habitudes, manners and social practices are shaped to a degree of perfection which those on the opposite side of the globe have for many ages in vain endeavored to secure by the strictest injunctions of religion, and all the severities of sanguinary criminal laws.

In one respect particularly, the discoveries now under consideration most essentially and pleasingly differ from all that have hitherto been related. In former voyages and discoveries, the interest derived from the novelty of newly-found races of men, has always been more or less considerably abated, by such nauseous pictures of the vilest savage depravity, ignorance and gross sensuality, that in contemplating them the mind of moral purity was kept either in a constant state of oscillation from contempt or pity to disgust and abhorrence; or where things were more favorable, in a state of sadness and regret at their deplorable weakness and immorality. The cannibalism of some of those nations of innocent good natured islanders discovered by Cooke—their cruel and ungenerous manner of making war—their profligate sensuality, carried to an excess of indecency almost bordering upon the ludicrous—their levity, thievishness, dissimulation and bigotry, altogether formed a composition of the most offensive kind—and this was, in the end, rendered more painful by the consequences they produced upon the conduct of their visiters, who seldom failed to add to their stock of profligacy some new rudiments in the arts of vice—to communicate to them loathsome diseases before unknown in their countries—and too often to take advantage of their own superior powers to oppress, insult and personally abuse them.

The account of the Loo-Choo discovery exhibits nothing of this detestable character. It all affords pleasure without scarcely any alloy. So far from yielding themselves, like the beautiful females of Otaheite and Huaheine, to the embraces of the sailors for a nail or a spike of iron, the women of Loo-Choo kept themselves in a state of exemplary retirement—they entertained their strange visiters with no TIMARADEE, nor any other dance or ceremony of an indecent kind. So far from thieving, they refused to take payment for the supplies of meat and food and mechanical labor they bestowed upon the British ships and crews, and exercised a degree of virtuous hospitality, which for unadulterated character, unsparing abundance, and perseverance unfatigued, unrelaxed and undiminished during six weeks, has not its parallel in real history, and scarcely in romance;—so far were they from carrying on sanguinary wars, that they possessed no such things as weapons either for offence or defence; and as to cruelty, they were so averse to the exercise of any thing resembling that vice, that when some of the people of the ships shot a bird, the good people intreated them not to repeat the act, telling them they loved to see the birds fly about them, and adding that if it was for food they wanted them, they would supply them with abundance; and they did accordingly furnish them, gratis, with as much as they chose to ask for.

"They had no warlike instruments of any description;" says Mr. McLeod, "no weapons offensive or defensive, and when they saw the effect of the English fowling-pieces, they intreated that they would not kill the birds, which they said they were pleased with seeing about their houses; adding that if they wished to get them merely for the purpose of eating, they would supply them with plenty of fowl.—Of course an order was given to desist."

Far from provoking by fraud, theft, wrong of any kind, or duplicity, any thing like enmity, vengeance or oppression on the part of the British, there did not arise one dispute or disagreement between the natives and their strange visiters, during the whole time they staid there. On the contrary every day seemed to improve their friendship—every day they gained ground in the estimation of their English visiters. They seem to be gifted with a sort of natural politeness, so unrestrained and so unstudied, that there was not a man in the ships who did not consider the people of the Lew-Chew as his friends. A stronger proof of their conciliating manners and kindly dispositions could not be given than in the following passage by Mr. McLleod:

"That proud and haughty feeling of national superiority so strongly existing among the common class of British seamen, which induces them to hold all foreigners cheap, and to treat them with contempt, often calling them outlandish lubbers, in their own country, was, on this Island, completely subdued and tamed, by the gentle manner and kind behaviour of the most pacific people upon earth. Although completely intermixed, and often working together, both on shore and on board, not a single quarrel or complaint took place on either side, during the whole of our stay; on the contrary each succeeding day added to their friendship and cordiality.

CUMBERLAND BANK ROBBERY.

Mr. Topliff writes to the editors of the New-York Gazette, under date of Friday last, "I have just learned by a gentleman from Portland, that the persons concerned in the late Bank robbery have been discovered. Their names are Daniel Manley, F. Dela, and Captain Rolfe."

FIRE!

The alarm of fire last night between 9 and 10 o'clock, was found to proceed from the conflagration of several wooden buildings in the meadow between South and Holliday streets, and near the Gas Factory. These buildings were occupied by the Gas Company, by a carpenter, and also by a blacksmith. The whole were consumed in a few minutes. [Balt. Amer. Aug. 11.

WORTHY OF IMITATION.

A number of gentlemen of the first respectability, at Bridgetown (N. Five hundred families from Wales and the northern and western parts of Scotland, arrived at the ports of Greenock and Glasgow on the first of May, for the purpose of emigrating to America. They were compelled to form an encampment on the banks of the Clyde, where the novelty of the sight attracted a number of spectators. [Ibid.

MOLES.

It is a singular fact, that three men killed 10,000 moles in the course of six weeks, within a few miles of Egremont; so says a London paper.

To the Editor of the Freeman's Journal.

I observed in the Freeman's Journal of Wednesday, an account of a boy falling from the fore top-gallant yard on board of the ship Bellona, which induces me to communicate the following:

In 1812, a young man on board the ship Pekin, bound to Canton, from this port, fell from the main top-gallant yard and struck the fore yard brace, which threw him into the sea, and he disappeared—the boat was put out in search of him, which at length found him, and brought him on board; he went down the forecastle and changed his clothes; he then went aloft and performed his duty.

Capt. The tonnage duty is fixed at 20 rials (2 dols 50) on all foreign vessels from 1st July last.

Four lads of the Cherokee and Chocktaw nations of Indians arrived in this city a few days since, in charge of a Missionary on their way to Connecticut, to be educated under the direction of the Missionary Society of that state. Some of these it is understood are to be prepared for the work of the ministry. Their appearance was rendered very interesting by the novelty of the object they have in view, and the correctness of their deportment. It may in truth be said that this is emphatically "a work of mercy and labor of love."

THE SEA SERPENT.

The repeated assurances of the existence of so extraordinary an animal near our shores, have at length induced a number of individuals to make a spirited attempt to take it, and an expedition consisting of a schooner and two boats, well manned and armed, and in every respect suitably prepared, actually sailed from this port yesterday morning, for that purpose. We learn also, that a number of boats, well prepared for the same object, were to sail from Gloucester yesterday. [Salem Reg.

Lubec (in the Passamaquoddy Bay) has been wholly built within the last 3 years, and like ancient Tyre arose from the hostile capture of the former residence of its inhabitants. Its worthy and patriotic citizens could not content themselves to live under a foreign jurisdiction or be subject to British laws. Having pitched upon the most beautiful peninsula of Passamaquoddy Bay, a spot enjoying natural advantages for commercial business and for the safety of navigation, superior to any in this section of the country, they commenced in 1815 the building of this neat, flourishing and beautiful town. May neither change of jurisdiction, which has lately taken place, nor any other cause, ever prevent its rapid growth and highly merited importance.

FOOD FOR PHILOSOPHERS.

The reader will find in this day's paper, some curious and novel speculations from Captain Symmes, the new geologist of Ohio, whose recent declaration that the "earth is hollow and habitable within," has excited so much diversion among all classes of the community. It would seem from these publications, that captain Symmes is intent upon establishing his theory—though his first communication was received by some as a burlesque upon the vagaries of some modern philosophers; and by others, as a wild effusion of a disordered brain.—For ourselves we profess but little knowledge of the science of "world making," as this branch of philosophy has been facetiously called: but as absurd and preposterous as the theory of captain S. certainly appears at the first glance, we will do him the justice to say, that it is not more so, than many theories which our philosophers have attempted to establish within the last twenty years. At all events, we doubt whether captain Symmes' ideas of the structure of the earth will be received with more derision or reluctance, than were Sir Isaac Newton's doctrines of the earth when first promulgated.

Many people entertain an opinion that capt. S. is afflicted with a partial derangement of his intellect—and possibly this opinion may be strengthened by his efforts to illustrate his singular principles of geology. Upon this point we can state, that we have recently had a conversation with a gentleman of talents and respectability, who has known him well at Cincinnati, within one or two years. During this acquaintance, our informant states, that nothing was further from him than insanity. With these remarks, we leave the matter to philosophers, world-makers and the public, to puzzle for themselves—expressing our regret at the same time, that capt. Symmes, who appears so anxious to descend into the bowels of the earth, had not accompanied the British expedition to the North Pole.

GEOMETRY.—MEMOIR 2.

St. Louis, June 17, 1818.

With dividers scribe a circle on a plate of matter of loose texture, and in the centre add a very small circle—then draw a right line through the centre. It is evident (as matter gravitates matter in proportion to quantity and distance) that either half of the inner circle, being almost equally surrounded by matter, must be very little gravitated centerwise—so being suspended extremely rare, only a rotary motion is needed to throw it compactly towards the outer circle. This admitted, it follows that half way from the outer to the inner side of this circle of matter so thrown out, a like rarity of gravity should prevail, and hence a disposition to separate into two concentric circles occurs. Thus far admitted, it follows that successive similar subdivisions should exist, gradually lessening in force or quantity. By applying this principle to the earth, I found the necessity of hollow concentric spheres. A decision of schoolmen on these lines, shall be followed by additional positions, further explaining my new principles of hollow planets and concentric spheres, declared in a circular letter of the 10th April, 1818.

GEOLOGY—MEMOIR 3.

Light gives light to discover light—"An infinitum."

St. Louis, June 24, 1818.

Having about a year since decided on the geometrical necessity of all the planets being hollow, and consisting of separate concentric spheres involved within each other, (as I last week published:) like laws led me, on the 19 of December, 1817, at Pass Christian, (Gulf of Mexico) to decide that the same rotation that throws the matter wide from the centre would throw it some degrees from the poles. This rotation I deemed sufficient to protrude the equator, and so flatten and thin the sphere at the poles, that the matter would shrink or gravitate from the thinnest point at each pole towards the thicker parts of the sphere, and thence the poles remain open.—On the 16th of last January, near Mobile, a fire ball burst, that an instant before projected a cone of fire from each pole at right angles, with its course; its bursting like a bomb-shell shewed it to be hollow, the two cones of light besides its tail shewed it was then open at the poles, & I deemed it a petty planet. This was the first confirmation I found to support my new positions. The fire ball that fell in Connecticut in 1817 produced three distinct reports in rapid succession, this shewed it consisted of three concentric spheres.

Since last January my mind has been almost entirely devoted to the study of nature's laws both abroad and at my reading desk; and I have found full fifty strong additional proofs of my new principles; I will state the base of a number, from whence the studious may trace their merits (as I have done) in books that treat on them. If the learned admit my philosophy without a formal treatise, I shall be the more gratified.

Proof 1.—The alternate dark and light circle seen round the poles of Mars, as if several concentric spheres open at their poles, existed one within another.

2. Saturn's rings, which have the appearance of being some of his outermost spheres widely open at their poles, owing perhaps to great rarity and a rapid rotation.

3. One of the cusps or horns of Venus, sometimes running 15 degrees into her dark hemisphere, being narrow, bends inwards like a hook before it terminates, as if this narrow lighted part wound round the brim of a hole, that might be a hollow pole, and at other periods terminates bluntly, leaving a dark space of several degrees, and again shewing a tip or spot of light as if a hole had interrupted the horn near the point.

4. The belts of Jupiter (whose poles we cannot see) seem to favor the doctrine of a plurality of the spheres, more or less solid, as does the belts of Mars.

5. The spots on the sun, which have the appearance of fractured breaches in his outermost sphere of solids, through which an inner one is seen: his poles too may be open but we can never see them.

6. Although the equinoxes proceed, yet the just proportion of the flatted poles continue, as if the globe yielded like a soap bubble.

7. Iron filings sifted on paper, forms into concentric circles on holding a magnet under the paper.

The other indexes of proofs will be added, in succeeding numbers, shewing how the emigration of fish and quadrupeds (if not birds) over and under the polar ice, northwards in the fall while poor, and southwards in the spring when fat, proves my new doctrine, together with many additional phenomena concuring by analogy.

I hope an early decision of the schools may test the truth of my principles.

Man feels that the Deity is great and powerful beyond comprehension—this he is taught by religion and the wonders of creation. So far as this feeling is founded on the excellent and magnificent formation of the universe (if I am right) it should be as many times doubled as these qualities are shown to be, by each planet containing a succession of lesser ones, habitable on their inner and outer surfaces, either for man or fish and quadrupeds, which are food for man; the inside spheres of the sun, and his compeers the stars, should also be included as equally habitable.

Though men cannot comprehend the infinite greatness of God, yet the more they understand his mighty works, the more they must adore him; hence correct philosophers cannot doubt divinity to refrain from war-where all nature tells them adoration is due.

JNO. CLEVES SYMMES, of Ohio.

P. S. The date I have as yet obtained, indicates that near latitude 75 north, the degrees decrease, so that the 90th is not more than 5 or 10 miles; that in high latitudes gravity is so little abated by the rotary motion, that water should solidify with a much less quantum of cold there than here; that sunshine after reaches nearly to the inside equators, and may be refracted and reflected beyond them.—That when and where the sun shines perpendicularly on the concave verge of the hollow in summer, it is excessive hot; that the south pole is much more open than the north; that the spheres are alternately farther off and nearer each other, in successive pairs; that the inside seas are fresh, and discharge into the outer seas periodically if not constantly; that air coming out from the hollows of the innermost spheres, is more unhealthy to us than common north winds; that the average space between the spheres is not less than 500 miles; that the N. pole is 5 or 600 miles beyond the ninetieth degree; that the monsoons and our N. easterly and S. westerly winds are forced out and drawn into the hollow poles alternately—that the fire-ball meteors come out of the hollow poles much as the winds do. By the arrival, yesterday, of the brig Tom Hazard in 50 days from Liverpool, and the ship Rubicon in 42 days from Havre-de-Grace, we have London dates to the 19th of June, and Paris to the 23d. Our Lloyd's Lists are to the 16th. Extracts from each will be found under their appropriate heads.

French Stocks at Paris, June 21.—Five per cents. 74f 50c. Bank Shares, 1675 to 1680.

Three thousand bales upland cotton were advertised to be sold at auction at Havre, on the 6th of July, which had in some measure depressed the market. Coffee was in brisk demand.

Prices at Paris, June 20.—St. Domingo coffee, 2f 25c to 2 27; pepper, 1 72 a 1f 75; rice, 30f; upland cotton, 2 80 a 2 82; New-Orleans do 2 90 a 2 95.

The Rubicon has brought out despatches for the Secretary of State, and six hundred thousand dollars in specie, principally for the Bank of the United States.

It is stated that an optician in Paris has orders, to make a kaliedoscope embracing a variety of precious stones instead of pieces of colored glass. When finished, it is to be sent as a present to some foreign court. Its price is fixed at 20,000 francs.

At a meeting of the citizens of Alexandria, held at the Exchange Coffee House on the 11th inst. for the purpose of taking into consideration the propriety of establishing a steam-boat, to ply between this town and Norfolk, Jacob Hoffman, Esq. was called to the chair, and W. D. Simms was appointed Secretary. The following resolutions were adopted.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting, the establishment of a steam-boat between this place and Norfolk will be a considerable advantage to this town, and that the amount of stock proposed to be raised here will be subscribed.

Resolved, That one hundred dollars be the price of each share of that part of the stock to be subscribed for in Alexandria.

Resolved, That a committee of three persons be appointed to wait on the citizens for subscriptions, and that it consist of William Fowle, Hugh Smith and Phineas Janney.

Resolved, That the committee, when they deem it necessary, call a meeting of the citizens, to receive their report of the progress they have made in the discharge of their duties.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the newspapers of the town.

Valuable Estate for Sale.

UNDER the authority of a decree from the Equity Court of Prince George's county, the subscriber will on Wednesday the 23d day of September next, offer at public sale, at the house of Isidore Hardy, in Piscataway, a most valuable property, the Estate of George R. Leiper,

Esq. deceased, so well known by the name of MONTPELIER—about 2 miles from Piscataway, 9 miles from Alexandria, and 16 from Washington city.

This farm, which contains rather more than 600 acres, is truly valuable. The soil is fertile and highly susceptible of improvement by the use of clover and piaster. The buildings are good and commodious, and the scite of the Mansion, in beauty of perspective and salubrity of air, is excelled by few on Potomac river. To be enabled to appreciate fully the elegance of the situation and all the advantages which result to the possessor of this valuable estate, it is only necessary that it should be viewed, which may be done, and every necessary information obtained, by application to the subscriber, or Mr. Aquilla Baden, the present manager of the farm.

The terms of sale are that the purchaser shall pay one-third in ready money, and the residue in two equal annual payments, with interest from the day of sale, to be secured by bond with approved security, and on the ratification of the sale by the court, and the payment of the whole purchase money with the interest thereon due, and not before, the trustee will execute to the purchaser a deed in the terms of the decree. The purchaser on complying with the terms of sale, will have the liberty of seeding a crop of winter grain.

RAN away from the subscriber, on the the 3d inst. Negro JEM, about 5 feet 5 inches high, 25 or 26 years of age, stout and well made, except that he is perhaps a little knockkneed; his complexion dark, has a large scar on the upper lip, occasioned, it is said, by his falling, when a child, on some edged tool; has a down look when spoken to, and is apt to be short and insolent in answering. The clothes he took with him are not recollected, except a red flannel shirt, a pair of Russia duck sailor's trowsers, and a coarse wool hat with broad brim, nearly half worn. Having gone off without any provocation, it is probable his intention is to steer his course towards Baltimore or Pennsylvania, and pass for a freeman. He has hauled the seine the two last seasons in Pomonkey, where he may have gone, or perhaps to Alexandria, where he is also a little acquainted. If taken 20 miles from home, or out of the county, I will give 20 dollars for securing him in any gaol, or if taken 50 miles from home, or out of the state, I will give the above reward of fifty dollars. The Improved Patent Plough.

THE expensive force necessary for ploughing in the common way, has been long known and lamented by farmers. Many attempts have been made to obviate that inconvenience, by the construction of a plough on Mechanical principles, and patents have been granted to applicants who profess to have improved on that agricultural implement. These improvements are now before the public, the proper arbiters in such cases, who will approve or condemn according to the merits or demerits of the performance.

I, also, have become a candidate for public patronage, and shall attempt to explain and give reasons to show at least some advantages which I think my plough possesses over any other now in use.

For its durability and simplicity of construction, its first excellency, no plough now in use surpasses it—but its chief advantages lie in the ease with which it breaks and inverts the soil, and will plough in clover or grass land of any kind without being clogged or choaked. These properties arise from the mechanical principles on which it is formed. The wedge is said to possess the requisite properties for breaking and raising the soil with the least applicable force. This plough is so formed as to form a wedge with the mould-board, which raises the earth gradually to the greatest perpendicular height, when by a regular turn of the mould-board it is inverted, rendering the pressure inconsiderable, and consequently the force necessary to draw it proportionably small. The beam is made of iron or wood, and has a considerable curve, which permits all vegetable matter to pass off. I would recommend the iron beam, as it has several advantages over the wood, and the difference of expense small.

I have thought it a duty to my fellow citizens to publish a few lines of instruction to facilitate the mode of using and repairing the same. Before the plough is used, the mould-board should be scoured with free stone or a well burnt brick and water until it is perfectly smooth. The horses should draw by a double or treble tree, which is confined to the clevice or beam by an open ring. The point and share should be laid with steel when necessary; the latter must be kept level with the bar, and the point inclined a little down. If this be well attended to by the good husbandman, he will be able to eat the 'fatted calf,' when the indolent will sink into want.

These ploughs will be furnished at my shop in this County and in Alexandria by James Atkinson, near Poston's tavern, Peyton street.

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phænomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavoured to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.

THOMAS COOPER, M. D.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE's MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-Destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
